

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

I.T. XCHANGE EXPANDS OPTIONS CONTINUATION PROGRAM

Raleigh, NC, October 5, 2004 – I.T. Xchange LLC, a leading distributor of secondary market personal computer products, announced today that they have expanded the depth and breadth of their product line under the IBM Options Continuation Program (OCP) with two new offerings. I.T. Xchange will now carry a lineup of IBM projector accessories including lamps and bulbs previously only available through IBM. IBM projectors were manufactured by InFocus and thus the bulbs that are available will also work in corresponding InFocus projectors. Also, I.T. Xchange will now manage the Docking Station Key Replacement Program for IBM. Customers can now order replacement key sets for IBM Dock I, Dock II, Mini Dock and X4 Ultrabase Docks exclusively from I.T. Xchange. Planned availability for IBM/Infocus Projector Accessories is December 1, 2004. More information about both offerings are available at:

According to I.T. Xchange's President and CEO, Jeff McFarlane, "The expansion of the Options Continuation Program to include projector accessories compliments our existing option inventory. This new product offering will continue to serve our existing and prospective customer base in maintaining their existing platforms or lowering their Total Cost Of Ownership (TCO)."

The IBM Options Continuation Program launched in 1999 and exclusively supported by I.T. Xchange, is part of the IBM PC Lifecycle Care family of asset management and investment protection offerings. OCP extends the availability of selected options by making them available to customers and Business Partners through I.T. Xchange. In most cases, I.T. Xchange provides an additional 18 months of availability, after the effective IBM "withdrawal from marketing date", for select xSeries ®, ThinkPad ®, ThinkCentre ®, Intellistation ®, NetVista ®, and Netfinity ® options.
