

For Immediate Release:

I.T. XCHANGE ACQUIRES THE ASSETS OF VERNON COMPUTER SOURCE*

Raleigh, NC, May 1, 2007 – I.T. Xchange a leading distributor of secondary market, computer products and Vernon Computer Source announce today that I.T. Xchange will acquire the assets of Vernon Computer Source.

Vernon Computer Source operations are headquartered in Stamford, Connecticut with established facilities in Atlanta, GA and Seattle, WA in the United States. Vernon's sales and distribution centers will be integrated into the I.T. Xchange network but will continue to operate as Vernon Computer Source – a member of the I.T. Xchange group of companies.

The addition of an I.T. Xchange facility in the New England area will enhance service to their growing network of customers.

According to I.T. Xchange's Executive Vice President, Jim Drohan, "I.T. Xchange is very excited about the opportunity presented by this acquisition. The mutual strengths of both organizations will provide more products and increased levels of service for all existing clients."

Anthony Randazzo, VP Sales and Marketing for Vernon Computer Source stated: "For over 20 years the short-term rental of computer hardware has been Vernon's core business. Joining I.T. Xchange provides Vernon with a massive selection of technology for our portfolio to rent on a daily, weekly, monthly basis. This gives us a clear competitive differentiator in our marketplace."
